Profound and vital words in the field of human health, as your gut rules over 85% of your immune system. Combined with the fact that 93% of your serotonin—basically more than 48-50 of your hormones—are formed in your gut, this makes it the largest endocrine organ of the human body.

All basic dis-ease start in the lower gut, bowels, and bladder. IBS (Irritable Bowel Syndrome), constipation, and leaky gut are among the most prevalent dis-eases in the world. Our soil is contaminated, our food is contaminated, and our water is contaminated, all of which have contributed to our increasingly sick world over the last 60 years. We are not getting better, but sicker.

It is now a chronic situation that we find ourselves in.

There is too much bad bacteria and not enough good bacteria in our soil, food, water, and bodies.
